Summary

I am a 22-year-old graduate in Application Development, born in Amsterdam, with a strong passion for building creative and useful software solutions. Over the past few years, I have gained hands-on experience with different programming languages, frameworks, and tools, both through my studies and personal projects. I enjoy experimenting with new technologies and challenging myself with side projects that allow me to grow beyond the classroom.

I am motivated, eager to learn, and a real team player who values good communication and collaboration. I like tackling complex problems, finding practical solutions, and continuously improving myself. My goal is to keep developing my skills while contributing to meaningful projects where I can make an impact.

Education

Thomas More	September 2021 - June 2025
Application Development	Bachelors Applied Computer Science
Sint-Jan Berchmans College	2019 - 2021
	It Management

Experience

Strobbo	February 2025 - June 2025
Software Developer Intern	Lommel

During my internship at Strobbo I focused primarily on backend development using Node.js and SQL. Worked on implementing and improving user authentication and authorization features, ensuring secure access and data handling. Contributed to the design and optimization of APIs, database queries, and backend logic. Collaborated closely with the development team in an agile environment, gaining practical experience in problem-solving and delivering reliable software solutions.
